

Joan Giammarco

SAG-AFTRA / ACTRA / AMPAS / U.S. & Canadian Citizen

Joan Giammarco is an actress, voice actress, director and dubbing specialist. Her first paid acting job was voicing a nine-year-old, skateboarding, dinosaur and she has never looked back. Celebrated for her versatility and unique skill set, her work spans film, theatre, and voiceover. A one-woman show she created was theatre pick of the week in each city where she performed it. Two projects she's voice directed have been nominated for Hermes Awards for best dubbing. Joan delights in sharing stories around a global campfire—although she's more of a glammer than a camper.
